Additional SEO Tips

In addition to using the HTML tags mentioned above, here are some additional tips for optimizing your article for search engines:

* Use descriptive alt attributes for images. For example, instead of using an alt attribute like "image1.jpg", use something more descriptive like "Gluten-free pancakes with berries and whipped cream." * Use keywords throughout your article, but don't overdo it. Keyword stuffing can actually hurt your ranking. * Make sure your article is well-written and informative. Google rewards high-quality content. * Promote your article on social media and other online channels. This will help to get your article in front of more people and improve your chances of ranking well in search results.
